

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

An air circulating device including a housing which contains a blowing fan and a motor. The housing includes an air inlet port and an air outlet port, with a plug provided at a surface of the housing to be connected to a power source. The blowing fan is set in the housing, as is the motor which drives the blowing fan.